Going and going and going. It seems as though this expression can not only used to describe the energizer bunny, but many other things. Such as school, too. They say that your best years are spent in high school, and the best of those years is senior year. And while at the time of this writing, I have yet to fully experience the "best" of what is ahead. I know I'll remember it.

On the Birth of a Child

LO, to the battle-ground of Life, Child, you have come, like a conquering shout, Out of a struggle - into strife; Out of a darkness - into doubt.

Girt with the fragile armor of youth, Child, you must ride into endless wars, With the sword of protest, the buckler of truth, And a banner of love to sweep the stars.

About you the world's despair will surge;
Into defeat you must plunge and grope.
Be to the faltering an urge;
Be to the hopeless years a hope!

Be to the darkened world a flame;
Be to it's uncertain a blowFor out of it's pain and tumult you came,
And into its tumult and pain you go.
